How do you plan to accomplish your dreams and what are they? How do you want the next 5 years of your life to play out?

In five years I will be twenty-seven years old. In the upcoming five years I plan to accomplish my own business expanding my different talents into the world. I see myself working with different companies. It can go down being a project manager or even being a designer for blue print purposes. I could even design special events like weddings, birthdays, anniversaries, etc. I hope that I will be out of Little Rock and somewhere else with bigger and better opportunities. I see myself owning a house and also helping in the children community where needed.

My son will be around six years old and as a mother I want him to explore everything he can while in school! I can see myself being an organizer too. A lot of people do not have the time/patience to organize things that need to be done and I could be that hero. I might even be back in school earning my associates in nursing. Before my main decision on being a graphic designer my first choice was to become a NICU nurse. Looking into how much school that would have taken I backed out and went with my plan B.

I have stepped out of my comfort zone this semester and am a project manager for one of my classes where we have to talk to an actual client to help build them a website they can use for the long run. Present and even future wise I plan to meet a lot of people that have the same interest in me as for art is my passion. Even learning different things outside of art that can correspond with it can be a good chunk of knowledge for me to know as well.

The more people you know the more opportunities you can get! The more talents you have and learn, your audience will expand in different areas of your talents that you are good at doing. My motto that I always look after is GO BIG or go home!

Back when I was in middle school and high school I underestimated myself a lot but the best support you have if you don't have any is yourself. You can never let yourself down because if you do you will never be set to accomplish or be successful in anything. I want to help the world and community within the art industry! My passion in life still till this day is art and it's what defines me as a person. I can't not wait for what the future holds and I cant wait til I live the life I deserve.
